This letter serves to confirm that Mr Peter Althaus has been actively involved with German Water Partnership e.V. (GWP) in a voluntary leadership capacity for several years.

Mr Althaus assumed responsibility as Head of the Regional Section India in 2017. In October 2023, the regional scope was expanded to South and South-east Asia, and Mr Althaus took on this additional regional responsibility as Regional Head. He served in this role until January 2026. He currently serves as Deputy Head of the Regional Section South and Southeast Asia.

German Water Partnership e.V. is the central network of the internationally active German water sector. It brings together more than 300 companies, associations, institutions, and organisations from business, science, and research with the aim of promoting German water expertise internationally and supporting sustainable solutions to global water and wastewater challenges.

Within this network, the regional sections play an important role in facilitating professional exchange, building international partnerships, identifying opportunities for cooperation, and strengthening the visibility of German expertise in target markets.

In his roles, Mr Althaus contributed to the coordination and development of regional activities, supported dialogue between German member organisations and partners in the respective regions, and helped advance GWP's objective of fostering cooperation between the German water sector and international stakeholders.
